

Railroads Reject The Eight Hour Day Plan

PRESIDENT WILSON VETOES THE ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL

TRAINMEN ACCEPT WILSON'S PROPOSAL

Washington, D. C., August 18.—Thirty-one railroad presidents today told President Wilson they stood by the decision of their managers' committee that an eight hour day was impracticable. President Wilson refused to take "No" for an answer to his proposal that they accept the eight hour day and asked them to return to the White House tomorrow with their managers for another conference.

The railroad presidents told Mr. Wilson that while they could only speak for their own roads, they were disposed to accept the word from the managers' committee that an eight hour day was impracticable.

Just after the railroad presidents left the White House it became known unofficially that the employees had voted to accept President Wilson's proposal and that some of the leaders had gone to the White House to tell him so.

The vote of the employees on President Wilson's plan was delivered to him personally by the chiefs of the four brotherhoods.

A. B. Garretson, their spokesman, said it would be given out by the president and added that although the employees had received no invitation to return to the White House they would "hurry" here to await a possible summons.

The four brotherhood leaders were in conference with the president 30 minutes and said no modification of the plan had been presented to them as a result of President Wilson's conference with the railroad presidents.

The railroad presidents agreed to continue negotiations until some settlement is reached. The railroad executives told the president that as before increasing freight rates they were forced to submit to an inquiry, before granting an increase in pay they should have a similar inquiry.

It was made clear to President Wilson that the railroad presidents were not disposed to yield the eight hour day and that they insisted on arbitration.

The attitude of the railroad presidents seemed to indicate little chance of the plan proposed by the president being accepted. Several declared the principle of arbitration in industrial disputes was at stake and must be maintained even at the cost of a strike.

President Wilson pointed out the disaster which would attend a nation-wide strike but the officials' only answer was that they were willing to arbitrate the questions at issue.

The railroad presidents were with President Wilson less than an hour. Whether President Wilson will continue to insist on his plan or suggest another to both sides was not made clear. Administration officials insist he

BOEHLING AND MOELLER TRADED TO CLEVELAND

Washington, D. C., August 18.—Manager Griffith, of the local American League Club today announced he had traded Pitcher Boehling and Outfielder Moeller to the Cleveland club for Outfielder Smith and Infielder Leonard.

Warren, O., Aug. 18.—Herman W. Stander, bricklayer, stepped from behind a freight train directly in the path of an Erie passenger train this morning and was instantly killed.

Regarding measures to deal with epidemics, the report recommended: "Immediate report of all cases and exchange of weekly reports between state and federal authorities."

"Daily observations for two weeks of all children under 16 leaving an infected district."

"Isolation of all diseased persons and attendants for six weeks. Hospital treatment when possible."

"Private funerals for victims."

"Prohibition of assembly of children in public places during an epidemic."

"Suppression of flies and the common drink cup and a general educational campaign for cleanliness and sanitation with particular instructions of parents and children concerning personal hygiene especially of the mouth and nose."

DEATHS CONTINUE
New York, August 18.—The health department reported only a slight change in the epidemic of infantile paralysis today. New cases during the last 24 hours numbered 125, and deaths, 32 as against 121 cases and 32 deaths yesterday.

Deutschland Reaches Home Safely, Report

Geneva, August 18.—(Via Paris)---A private telegram received today from Berlin by the Neue Züricher Zeitung says that the German submarine Deutschland arrived safely at Bremen from the United States.

Score Hurt When Bleachers Collapse

Warren, Ohio, Aug. 18.—A score of persons were slightly injured yesterday when a section of the temporary bleachers erected in front of the grand stand at the Trumbull county fair grounds collapsed while a big crowd was watching a boxing match. The most seriously injured are: Mrs. Don Burrows, Mrs. Earl Chadwick, Miss Flora Salen, Mrs. Rankin Redmond, Mrs. John Rankin of Warren; John Qualey, of Niles; Mrs. Frank McFetridge, of Champion, Ohio.

Two persons are reported missing. A thousand people occupying the bleacher seats were tossed into a heap amid the tangle of broken timbers and the crowd of 25,000 which was attending the county fair was panic stricken when the crash came. Police prevented a stampede.

PORTUGUESE TROOPS ARE TO JOIN FORCES OF THE ALLIES

[BULLETIN]
Berlin, August 18.—(Via London)---The Teutonic allies have taken the offensive on the Balkan front and captured the Greek town of Florina from Serbian troops, the war office announced today.

Lisbon, Via Paris, August 18.—Major Norton Mattos, the Portuguese minister of war, announced today that Portugal soon will participate in the war, fighting on the side of the entente allies.

London, August 18.—The Russians temporarily held in their Galician drive by heavy counterattacks, have again commenced to move forward.

Petrograd today announced that the Teutonic armies on this front have failed in their attempts to throw back General Brusiloff's armies, sustaining heavy losses in the effort, and that the Russians are again advancing at several points.

In the war news from France the Verdun region again commands attention. The French have not been notably active there for the past few days, but last night they resumed their offensive east of the Meuse and according to information contained in a Paris bulletin, succeeded in driving the Germans from a part of the village of Fleury which has long been sharply contested ground. An advance by the French was also scored in the Thionville sector, nearby.

After a brief period of delay the Germans have made their expected counter move in the Maurepas sector on the Somme front, where the French on Wednesday night reported substantial gains. Paris reports several attempts on the new French positions here but that all failed under the French fire.

Russians Hold Ground Gained
Petrograd, August 18.—(Via London)---The Austro-German effort to throw back the Russians in Galicia has resulted in great losses and met with no success, the war office announced today. The Russians have pressed forward in several sectors.

Violent Fighting At Fleury
Paris, Aug. 18.—Heavy attacks were made by the French last night on the Verdun front. After violent fighting at Fleury, east of the Meuse, they expelled the Germans from part of the town which had been captured, says the official statement of today.

Several German counterattacks on the Somme front south-east of Maurepas were repulsed. The French also made considerable progress in the region of Thionville, in the Verdun sector. (Continued On Page Eight)

OFFICIAL SHORT, CLAIMED

Columbus, O., August 18.—State Examiner F. D. Green, reported to the state accounting department today that a shortage of $1,555.57 exists in the accounts of George Borchert, recorder of the Cleveland Correction Farm. According to the report the shortage covers a period from March 14, 1914 to July 17. Borchert had charge of the prisoners' funds.

ISSUES LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION

Columbus, O., August 18.—Governor Willis issued a proclamation today calling on the people of the state to observe Labor Day, which comes on September 4th, this year.

MIDDLE WEST IN GRIP OF ANOTHER HOT WAVE

Chicago, August 18.—Extensive air disturbances in the north-west involving a low barometric pressure and aided by southern winds today sent another hot wave over the entire middle west. The maximum temperature for the day in most sections between the Rocky Mountains and the Alleghenies, will vary between 95 and 100 degrees, officials of the weather bureau said. There is no relief in sight for Chicago and vicinity before Sunday and possibly not then. The heat wave, however, will not be as severe as the one in July. The temperature rose about the 100 mark and caused the deaths of approximately 300 persons in Chicago.

TO CONTROL PRICES
San Francisco, Cal., August 18.—The price of fish in San Francisco will be fixed, beginning next Tuesday, by a board on which wholesaler, retailer, fisherman and consumer will be represented.

HEAT FATALITIES
Cleveland, Aug. 18.—Deaths of seven babies and one adult, caused by the heat, were reported today to the city health department. The mercury registered 93.

Woman Drives Thirty-Five Miles An Hour; Arrested

Columbus, O., August 18.—Arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of exceeding the speed limit, Miss Sadie J. Harrington, divorced wife of Jacob Pfeiffer, wealthy rubber manufacturer of Akron, entered a plea of not guilty. Miss Harrington was making 35 miles an hour.

HUGHES HAS BUSY DAY

San Francisco, Calif., August 18.—Charles E. Hughes entered California from the North early today with a program speech-making entertainment and conferences ahead of him that promised one of the most strenuous periods of his western trip. A reception committee of thirty, headed by W. F. Crocker, Republican National committeeman, and Francis V. Keessling, chairman of the Republican state Central Committee, waited near the Oregon line to welcome the presidential nominee and escort him to San Francisco where he will remain for two days.

Interest centered in the big public meeting tonight, over which Mr. Crocker was selected to preside. Arrangements for the meeting developed a conflict between Republican and Progressive leaders that has caused considerable controversy and bitterness.

Mr. Hughes is to try to mend the breach between the two factions. The Progressives, denied the privilege of taking part in planning the meeting, are to be represented tonight by a number of vice presidents on the platform. Their chief, Governor Hiram W. Johnson, will not be present, his campaign for United States Senator as both a Progressive and a Republican candidate having taken him to another part of the state.

From Ironton
F. H. Brown, of Ironton, was in the city on business Thursday.

Recently President Wilson appointed Hay to a judgeship on the court of claims and he is now serving his last term in congress. The war department contends that many features of the army bill were written into it in the conference and never were debated in the House or Senate.

Representative Hay announced that he would seek to re-pass the bill in the House under a special rule next Tuesday. The articles of war will not be permitted to get through in this bill again, he declared emphatically after a conference.

MEASURE IS RETURNED TO THE HOUSE

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Wilson today vetoed the army appropriation bill because of exemptions from discipline for retired officers forced into it by the House conferees led by Representative Hay over the opposition of the War Department. A new bill will be necessary and may delay adjournment of congress. Representative Hay said he would reintroduce the bill in the House immediately with the features to which the President objected eliminated.

Mr. Hay followed his announcement by reintroducing the bill minus not only the section to which the President objected but with the whole revision of the articles of war eliminated. This threatened to complicate the situation.

There have been broad intimations that the revision which proposed to remove retired officers from the jurisdiction of court martial was in the interest of a certain retired officer who was waiting for a time when he would be immune from discipline to make a public attack on the army.

The officer whose name was mentioned in connection with the report was, while in service, very active in legislative affairs, was connected very closely to congressmen framing army bills, and until his retirement was reckoned with as a power in legislation affecting the army.

The President's veto of the bill is one of the developments of years of contest between the army and Chairman Hay. The downfall of the continental army scheme and substitution of the national guard reorganization against the recommendation of army officers, is attributed to him.

Only the force of President Wilson's interference put the regular army increase in the new reorganization bill through the House in the face of Hay's opposition.

after a short vacation.

ALL ATTENDANCE RECORDS FOR FAIR ARE SMASHED

The Twenty-First Annual Scioto
County Fair came to a successful close Friday afternoon, when the races were completed. Records of former years for attendance were broken beyond all expectations.
Thursday was the best day the association has ever enjoyed. Friday, the closing day, there were about twenty-five hundred paid admissions, according to information received at the secretary's office. In all there were about four hundred automobiles parked on the grounds Friday.
Thursday it is estimated that there were 800 automobiles parked.

The motorcycle races, which were staged Friday morning, were fast and exciting. Boynton Davenport, this city, riding an Indian machine,
took the lead and easily won the race.
Will Nardi, an on Indian, and Harry McNeer on a Harley-Davidson, and H. Andre, Charleston, W. Va., were the others in the race.

The race, which was fifteen miles, was run in three heats. The first heat resulted: Davenport, Andre, Nardi and McNeer. The time was 8 minutes and 30 seconds. McNeer fell from his machine just before concluding the last lap of the first heat, but escaped injury.

The second heat was run in 7 minutes and 10 seconds. The racers finished: Davenport, Andre, McNeer, Nardi.

The final heat was won by Andre, with Davenport third. Davenport won first money, Andre second and McNeer third. The purse was $50 and was divided into three prizes.

Sixty-seven hundred people paid to attend the fair Thursday, which was by far the best day the association has ever had. Last year the attendance record was broken, when on Portsmouth day there were five thousand paid admissions. It is estimated that between ten and eleven thousand people were on the grounds
Thursday.

One of the strange incidents of the Thursday fair was the queer prank played by Jupiter Pluvius.
Beginning a little after high noon, rain fell over the fair grounds for a period of three-quarters of an hour or more. The grounds were soaked.
After the rain was over the crowds surged over the grounds, despite the heavy showers. Later it was found that the heavy rain had just included the fair grounds and a short distance of neighboring territory. It rained hard neither above the grove nor below.

The races Thursday were:

SOCIAL SURVEY MEETING

Preliminary plans for the Social Survey which the Associated Charities have inaugurated, are to be formulated at a meeting of the general committee, which was appointed Friday. This meeting has been called for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The purpose of the survey is to arrive at an accurate understanding of the charity situation as it exists in the city. The problems confronting the Associated Charities in social betterment work are to be set forth by Miss Mary Louise Mark, specialist in that sort of work, and recommendations are to be made with a view of attaining a higher degree of efficiency.

The end sought by the Associated Charities is to establish a centralized organization that will be capable of administering to the needs of the worthy in a more efficient manner.

The general committee appointed to assist Miss Mark in her work consists of: C. E. Dowling, chairman; Rev. W. T. Gilliland, John T. Breece, Frank M. Baggs, Father Goebel, Roger A. Selby, Dr. C. W. Wendelken, Judge Harry Ball, Frank L. Marting, Mayor H. H. Kaps, Mrs. Felix Haas, and Mrs. Wm. M. Briggs.

Will Hold Social

At the semi-monthly meeting of the Royal Neighbors in their new hall Clay and Robinson avenue Thursday evening the members decided to hold a social in the near future. On account of only a few members being present, no definite action was taken on the lodge's part in the Korn Karnival fraternal parade.

Emmer Is Traded

Frank Emmer is no longer a member of the Cincinnati Reds. He has been traded to the Dayton Central league team for Short-stop Hobbs. The latter is a former Ohio State leaguer and Emmer was bought by the Reds from the Maysville, Ohio State league team. Emmer fielded splendidly for the Reds, but his hitting was a big disappointment. He made 99 trips to the plate and secured 8 hits, giving him the lowly swatting average of .038.

Kinney Nolder In City

Kinney Nolder, who now has his headquarters in Pittsburgh, is mingling among Portsmouth relatives and friends. He was for years one of the city's most successful shoe salesmen.

U. S. Boats Still Here

The United States government dredge boats Iroquois and Mingo are still moored opposite York park, the high stage of the river making it impossible for them to do the work that they were expected to do in this vicinity.

OLD KENTUCKY FAVORITE CHEW OF CHAS. HANS

Famous Tobacco Wins Praise from Well-Known Portsmouth Police Officer

It takes a wonderfully good tobacco to stand the test for fifty years. That's what Old Kentucky has done, and its sweet, rich, distinctive flavor is just as popular today as it ever was. Read what Charles A. Hans, well-known merchant police officer, of Portsmouth, O., says about it:

"I have been using OLD KENTUCKY daily for the past twenty years. It is always the same OLD KENTUCKY in quality and flavor. I heartily recommend it to all chewers of tobacco."

No finer tobacco can be put into a chew than the choice, ripe, perfect, hand-stemmed old Burley that goes into Old Kentucky.

The fragrant, hard-pressed plug retains every drop of the sweet juice of the leaf—rich, tasty, delicious and satisfying.

Old Kentucky will give you a new idea of how delicious and satisfying a chew of tobacco can be. Get a 10c plug from your dealer to-day and begin to enjoy it.

Reward Is Offered For Return Of Sorrel Horse

Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, of Bonser's Run, is making a wide search for a sorrel mare that strayed from the McLaughlin pasture on Bonser's Run last Saturday morning. As the entire neighborhood was excited over the murder in that vicinity, the horse was not missed until sometime later. The horse was given to Mrs. McLaughlin by her son, Clifford Hicks, five years ago, and as it is a present she prizes the horse highly. The horse has a white blaze on its face and its opposite feet are white. Mrs. McLaughlin is offering a reward for the horse's return.

SCIOTOVILLE AND WHEELERSBURG

SCIOTOVILLE

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Brock of Fifth street, Thursday evening, with 42 members present. After the business session they were entertained by Harry Porter of Portsmouth, who gave several interesting readings. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Brock and Mrs. George Daniels. The next meeting will be held, August 31, at the church to make arrangements for a parcel post sale that will be given one week later.

Miss Ella Taylor and Mrs. Nell Taylor of Bloom and Third streets, delightfully entertained Mrs. E. E. Haegard and Mrs. David Evans' Sunday School classes of the M. E. church at their home, Thursday evening, with a lawn party. The lawn was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, ferns and Japanese lanterns. The evening was spent in games and music and in a contest.

Miss Irene Brant won the first prize a hand painted pin tray and Ralph Bowser the hooby prize, a small box of candy. Refreshments of pineapple ice, cake, wafers and mints were served and Mrs. Nell Taylor presided at the lemonade bowl throughout the evening. Those present were: Mesdames E. E. Haegard, David Evans, Carol Brock, Nell Taylor, Clara Frank, Ella Duvendeck, Juanita Allard and Mae White, Misses Ella Taylor, Irene Brant, Nina Belmont, Hazel Marks, Kathleen Manuel, Nell Gruber, Emma Buckley, Mary Agnes Cunningham, Dell Hitchcock, Rose Benline, Nannie Stratton, Mary Stratton, Rachel Creamer and Myrtle Cunningham, Messrs. Willard Frank, Wells Hansen, Geo. Stratton, Howard Hansen, Carl Brant, Louis Haegard and Wendell Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melvin and children, Catherine and Carlos of Collinsville, Ohio, were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Newman of Center street, Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Artis of Market street, had as guests Thursday Mrs. Joe Johnson and children of Price Hill, Cincinnati.

Mrs. Jennie Vandusen and Mrs. Curtis Wick spent Thursday with Mrs. Thomas Harrison at the home of Mrs. Oscar Tillet of Portsmouth. Mrs. Harrison recently underwent a serious operation at the Hempstead hospital. She will be removed to her home on Broadway street one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lenon of Main street, attended the Lucan-ville Fair, Thursday.

Mrs. Willard Hughes of Sunny Knoll, was a visitor to Portsmouth, Thursday.

Miss Elizabeth Reinhardt of Center street, spent Friday with her aunt, Mrs. Frank Brown of Portsmouth.

Mrs. Winnifred Bennett of Center street, will entertain her music class with a picnic and basket supper Saturday afternoon. Each member is requested to bring two guests and meet at her home at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Winnifred Bennett of Center street, spent Friday with relatives at Portsmouth.

Miss Bertha Rase of Main street, is spending a few days with relatives and friends at Powellsville.

WHEELERSBURG.

Mrs. A. W. Baker of Main street, was a business visitor to Portsmouth, Friday.

The high school alumni association will meet Saturday evening in the high school basement. All members are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Adams, Mrs. George Koch, Mrs. John Duis and Mrs. M. F. Mackoy motored to Lucasville, Thursday and attended the Fair.

The "Jolly Six" Kensington Club met at the home of Mrs. M. E. Mackoy, Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in needlework and social chat after which refreshments of grape ice and cake were served. Those present were Mesdames M. F. Mackoy, Norman Adams, George Koch, John Duis, M. E. Mackoy and guest, Mrs. Louis Snyder.

The high school alumni association of Wheelersburg will meet Saturday evening in the basement of the high school building. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Fred Sheln of Main street, has as a guest her niece, Irene Slattery of Portsmouth.

Do not forget the ice cream and box social at the Ball school house Saturday evening for the benefit of the public school library. Ladies are requested to bring boxes.

Highly standard materials used by Brehmer, the Painter.

Boys Have Fight; One Badly Hurt

William Rowe, the 12-year-old step-son of D. B. Burton, an engineer at the Whitaker-Glessner Company's plant, is thought to have suffered internal injury in a fight with another unidentified boy on Lawson street, Thursday evening.

Young Rowe had just come out of the Strand theatre when a boy, who was a stranger to him, stepped up and began calling him names, at the same time striking him. They began exchanging blows quite lively, when suddenly Rowe was struck so hard in the side that he was knocked down. He began screaming frantically. Passers-by carried him to John Kyle's drug store. The boy continued his screaming incessantly.

Dr. W. W. Smith was called to attend him. While the boy was still so sensitive about the side that the physician was unable to make any real examination, he therefore bandaged the side to await a more easy condition of the lad, whose father was notified and carried him to the family home at No. 1216 Summit street.

Grant Dixon Hurt In Trying To Board Car

Grant Dixon, of Rhodes avenue, New Boston, well known steel worker, had a deep gash cut in his forehead Thursday evening about eight o'clock when he attempted to board a street car in front of the Popular Theatre while the car was in motion.

The car makes a regular stop in front of Mrs. Phillip Emmert's home a short distance east of the theatre, but as it passed Dixon he attempted to get on. He was thrown to the paved street, his head striking a pile of five paving bricks put near the car tracks for the base of a danger lantern.

Dixon was assisted to the office of Dr. W. G. Cheney where it was found necessary to take one stitch in the cut.

COMPLAIN OF WATER ON PIKE

Numerous complaints are being made about the water standing on Gallia pike near the Millbrook lake bridge, New Boston. There is a dip in the paving at this place and the water formerly ran off into the small pond on the north side of the pike. The pond has been filled and this forces the water to stand on the paved road. A small sewer will have to be laid between the sidewalk and curb to Millbrook lake. New Boston council will take up the matter of installing a catch basin and sewer lateral at Monday night's session.

EAST END BOYS HAVE A SCRAP

Three East End youths giving the names of Kes Howard, aged 19, Clarence Hunt, aged 16, and Ollie Goodman, aged 16, who were charged with fighting at Eighth and Broadway Thursday evening, were dismissed by Mayor Kups Friday. They appeared to be little to the trouble, save that a gang of larger boys had thrown rocks at Hunt and Goodman and that considerable vile language was indulged in. There was nothing to show that Howard took any hand in the throwing. The two boys were reminded by the court that they had better not keep such late hours and if they offended in this respect again would be sent to the juvenile court.

A man claiming to be W. H. Stanley, of Columbus, who came here recently and secured employment, got drunk Thursday night, for which he was arrested. He was assessed the usual fine of $5.

Finger Is Badly Mashed

Marcus Early, N. & W. car repairer, of 1824 Eighth street, had the end of his little finger mashed off Thursday morning while at work. He was holding a bolt and a fellow employee was hitting it with a sledge hammer when the hammer slipped from the head of the bolt and caught Early's finger. He went to the office of Dr. S. S. (Continued From Page Six)

The show boat Water Queen is billed to tie up at the foot of Ohio avenue Monday, Aug. 21st. Contractor Dick Dawson has completed the brick work on the new three story steel plant office building. The roof is now being put on.

One of the large Korn Karri-val road signs has been hung across Gallia street at Gallia and Harrisonville avenues.

The wood part of the roof on the addition to the galvanizing department at the steel plant has been completed and workmen are busy putting on the steel roofing.

Work of paving the south side of Gallia street from Center street to West avenue was completed Friday. The south side has been graded as far west as Ohio avenue.

Mrs. Frank Yeley and children of Waits Station are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Emory of Harrisonville avenue.

Mrs. P. W. Thompson of Gallia avenue, was a visitor to Portsmouth, Thursday.

Local Jr. O. U. A. M. Council Upholds Mr. West In Rumpus

The position taken by the Portsmouth Council No. 38, Junior Order of United American Mechanics in regard to the order recently received from state officers asking for the expulsion of William West, is definitely outlined in a statement prepared by a committee appointed by the council. This statement was outlined, it is stated at a meeting of the order held Thursday evening.

Following the arrival of the order asking for the expulsion, William West entered common pleas court and secured a temporary injunction against his expulsion and questioning in his petition that it be made permanent when the testimony was adduced. The statement submitted to the Times by the committee is: "The undersigned committee was appointed to prepare a statement for the public in regard to the controversy between certain members of Portsmouth Council No. 38 Jr. O. U. A. M. and the state officials of the order. "In the first place we desire to emphatically state that the Jr. O. U. A. M. is NOT an A. P. A. or organization, but is a patriotic fraternal society, which has no doubt been misunderstood more than any other fraternal organization. And we are sorry to state that this has been allowed to go on by those in authority in the state organization.

"William West has served as a member of a committee appointed by Portsmouth Council No. 38, and all of his actions have been approved by said council. "We have done all that was in our power to have the authorities in the order execute the will of the members of the order in the state, and it seems plain to us that only by exercising our rights as CITIZENS OF THE STATE can we tear the mask from their faces. "We have made the charge that misleading reports have been made to the state council, and the advance report to the state council this year gives strength to that charge. "They call attention to the permissive free text book law that is now in effect in the state, but the state council has spent large sums of money to make this a compulsory law. In many school districts of the state the local boards have not enough money to have eight full months of school and have little or nothing with which to make repairs to the buildings, so if they have not the money how could they furnish the books? They also say in their report. 'Your committee has been in communication with Mr. Frank

B. Pearson, superintendent of public instruction and the only information we are able to secure from him in reference to free school books is as follows: "then follows a list of 19 cities that furnish free books in the state and the "cost of same. "The following letter was addressed to the superintendent of public instruction. "In a report to the state council of the Jr. O. U. A. M. our legislative committee reported that they have received information from you as follows:

Cost of Free Text Books
 Cincinnati .. 1.51 7.59 9.10
 Columbus .. 2.01
 Fostoria .. .33 .65 .44
 St. Bernard 2.50

"This is just four cities out of a list of 19 and they say that this is all of the information that they were able to secure from you. "I do not feel that you would like to be misquoted on this and I would like to inquire of you as to just what you mean by the information contained in this report. "We know that Mr. Weitzel does not favor our actions in this matter and we do not wish to bring your office into this controversy, but these figures do not agree with the ones that we have on file and we expect to explain out side of this at Cleveland next week. It is their intention to convey the impression that it will cost that much per year.

"Will you please advise me at once what you think of this as I expect to leave early Sunday for Cleveland."

"Now we will say that we were able to secure more information from the above office and instead of the cost in Cincinnati being nine dollars and ten cents we find that the average cost per pupil is THIRTY CENTS.

"Portsmouth council will fight this thing out, West is not in this fight alone, other members have been as active as he and what he is guilty of we all are guilty of and those who are responsible for the order being brought into dispute and referred to in the public press as a "religious political organization" will not make West alone the goat.

"We note in the Columbus Dispatch and the Ohio State Journal of August 6, 1916, a reference in large headlines to one Mr. Ferguson. Now Mr. Ferguson has no connection with our order but he is the head of a much smaller organization and of course would not have the influence of one controlling an organization as large as the Jr. O. U. A. M.

"They have no defense; they can not defend their actions in the legislature for the claim has been made by the author of one of the free text book bills that his bill was WITHDRAWN at the instigation of certain members of our order. We know why this was done and we shall explain the reason next week.

"With malice toward none, but with charity for all, we shall go to Cleveland trusting in God and the righteousness of our cause to clean this order up and give the state their books at the expense of the state.

"Respectfully yours,
 C. B. GRONINGER,
 K. N. DeLONG,
 IRWIN BOWSER.

Pozieres were repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers, according to the official statement issued by the war office last night. Northwest of Bazentin the British captured about one hundred yards of German trenches.

The text of the statement follows:
"On our right there was considerable artillery activity all day; last night and early this morning the enemy delivered a series of determined counter attacks on our trenches northwest of Pozieres on a broad front with considerable forces."

"Six times his infantry advanced to the attack, but ran back suffering very heavy losses. Our guns and machine guns did great execution. In no case did he succeed in entering our lines."

"Northwest of Bazentin we captured about one hundred yards of trenches. A counter attack made by the enemy today from Martinpuich was repulsed and some prisoners were captured by us. A German aeroplane was brought down behind our lines near Pozieres."

Belgian Troops Capture Port
Havre, France, August 18.—A brigade of Belgian troops have captured and occupied the port of Karama on the eastern bank of Lake Tanganyika, German East Africa, says an official Belgian announcement. Karama is about 125 miles south of Ujiji.

German Line Driven Back
Berlin, Aug. 18.—(Via London)—The British with several fresh divisions, launched an attack on the German lines north of the Somme and succeeded in driving back the German first line for a short distance on a narrow front southwest of Martinpuich, the war office announced today. In other sectors they were completely repulsed.

Fierce Fighting At Fleury
Berlin, August 18.—(Via London)—Attacks by the French last night on an extended front in the Verdun region, east of the Meuse, were repulsed all along the line except at Fleury where fighting is still in progress the war office announced.

London, August 18.—Some mystery exists as to the situation on the eastern front. For two consecutive days the Russians have combined themselves to brief statements that nothing of importance had occurred. The Austrian and German war offices have been almost equally uncommunicative. The only fighting mentioned by the Russian attacks on the lines of General von Boehm-Ermolli, who is in command of the Tenth Division retiring from the Tarnopol front. Berlin reports the repulse of Russian attacks south of Brody. The fall in the Italian operations against Trieste is unofficially explained from Rome as due to General Cadorna's desire to straighten his lines before proceeding again with a general offensive against the great Austrian support. Austrian seaplanes have again raided Venice, but Rome says they caused slight damage.

ARMY BILL
ference with several members of the military committee. The danger of complication or delay lies in the fact that Chairman Chamberlain of the Senate military committee said that if the House passed the bill without revision of the articles of war, the Senate probably would reinstate them as they were passed by the senate. The President and war department were satisfied with that provision.

"The veto," said Senator Chamberlain, "reopens the whole bill and there may be some senators who will want to renew their fight for amendments stricken out in conference."

President Wilson's veto message follows:
"To the house of representatives:

"I have carefully considered the bill entitled 'An Act Making Appropriations For the Support of the Army For the Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1917,' and now take the liberty of returning it with my objections to its approval."

"The bill constitutes an essential part of the legislation providing for the military establishment of the country and wisely and generously provides for the re-organization of the agencies of our national defense, and it is with genuine reluctance that I delay its becoming law by suggesting the elimination of one of the provisions which has been embodied in the very necessary and important revision of the articles of war which has been added to it."

"The existing articles of war are undoubtedly archaic. They have not undergone comprehensive revision for more than one hundred years. They do not always furnish the means of meeting promptly and directly the needs of discipline under modern conditions and many contingencies now frequently arise in the government of the military forces which were not contemplated when the present code was formulated. The relations of the government of the United States have greatly broadened within the hundred years. We now have insular possessions and national interests far away from our continental shores. Both the practice of arms and the theory of discipline have undergone many modern changes and a manifest need for such a revision of these articles as is here presented has long existed. I, therefore, the more keenly regret to find in the proposed revision of the articles of war a provision to which I can not give my approval."

"The original act establishing the retired list of the army referred to the personnel there included as only partially retired, and provided that a retired officer should be entitled to wear the uniform of his grade, should be borne on the army register, and should be subjected to the rules and articles of war, and to trial by all general court martials for any breach of these articles. By the act of July 24, 1876, officers of the army on the retired list were specifically declared to constitute a part of the regular army, a provision which is found repeated in subsequent acts affecting the organization of the army; and other statutes enacted during this period made retired officers of the army available for certain classes of active duty in time of peace with their consent, and in time of war without their consent. By the recently enacted national defense act, the authority of the president over retired officers has been further extended so as to make them subject to his call in time of war for any kind of duty without any restriction whatever. Courts and attorney generals have in a long line of decisions held that officers of the army on the retired list held public office."

status between retired officers, who are regarded and governed at all times as an effective reserve of skilled and experienced officers and a potential source of military strength, and mere pensioners, from whom no further military service is expected. Officers on the retired list of the army are officers of the army, members of the military establishment, distinguished by their long service, and, as such, examples of discipline to the officers and men in the active army. Moreover, they wear the uniform of the army, their education and service hold them out as persons especially qualified in military matters to represent the supreme court of military establishment, and they are subject to active duty in time of national emergency by the mere order of the commander in chief.

STOP TO TALK ON TRACK AND ONE MAN IS KILLED

Julius Montavon Is Crushed To Death; His Companion Is Injured By B. & O. Engine

While standing directly in the middle of the B. & O. S. W. tracks as they parallel the N. & W. S. on the Broadway crossing in the East End at 5:30 Thursday evening, Julius Montavon, Sr., 49, of Jackson street, and Wesley Hammock, 33, of 2130 Gallia street, were run down by a B. & O. S. W. switch engine. When struck Mr. Montavon's body was thrown in the path of the engine and the front wheels practically cut his body in two, his death resulting almost instantaneously. His body was wedged between the wheels of the engine when it was brought to a stop about 35 yards east of the crossing.

Hammock, a contracting carpenter, was more fortunate, as the engine tossed his body south of the tracks and he escaped meeting the tragic fate that was meted out to Montavon almost without warning. Hammock was found in a clump of weeds unconscious and bleeding profusely from a six-inch wound over his right eye and a deep cut back of his right ear, but he soon revived and was removed to his home.

Failed To Hear Engine of Death

Death interrupted a conversation he and Montavon were having about a piece of work Hammock is doing. So engrossed were they in their conversation that they failed to hear the B. & O. S. W. switch engine until too late to get out of its path. Samuel Gordley, a brother-in-law of Montavon, was sitting on the front porch of his home near the Broadway crossing and was the first person to reach the two men after the accident occurred. Montavon had just left his home and started across the crossing when he met engine.

Hammock. Mr. Gordley saw the engine approaching and when the two men did not continue their way across the tracks he started to make an investigation with the result that he found Montavon's body beneath the wheels of the engine and Hammock's just south of the tracks. A clump of high weeds he says prevented him from seeing the engine hit the two men.

Coroner Will Investigate

Coroner J. W. Daehler was notified shortly after the fatal accident and he hurried to the scene as quickly as possible. After viewing the lifeless and mutilated body of Montavon, which was later removed to Lynn's undertaking establishment to be prepared for burial, Coroner Daehler stated that persons going over railroad crossings had certain rights and he would investigate the affair thoroughly.

Montavon, who was employed as book-keeper in the Tenth street plant of the Irving Drew Shoe Company, was on his way home when death intercepted him. According to a statement made last night by Hammock at his home on Gallia street, they had been conversing probably three or four minutes when the engine struck them.

"It was about 5:40 last night when Montavon, who was on his way home, came to my house," Samuel Gordley stated last night. "We tried to get him to stay for supper, but he seemed worried over an operation his daughter Emma underwent Thursday for the removal of adenoids and tonsils, and he said he was anxious to get home. I walked to the porch of my home and kept talking to Montavon until he almost reached the Broadway crossing. The next time I saw my brother-in-law he was lying beneath the wheels of the B. & O. S. W. switch engine.

Official Report Of Accident

The official report of the accident made by Conductor J. N. Maynard, of South Portsmouth, who was in charge of the train crew, gives 5:30 o'clock as the time of the accident.

The report states that the switch engine, No. 1591 in charge of Engineer Grant Moore, of Fifth street, Fireman H. S. Penrod, of Chillicothe, brakemen Stewart Davison, of Sixth and Market streets, and W. Fred Schwartz, of Tenth street, and Conductor Maynard had just shoved a cut of empty freight cars down into the Harrison-Walker Company's brick plant's loading track to be loaded, and was backing out as a light engine over Broadway crossing. The report adds that W. E. Duly claims to have heard the fireman on the engine call to the two men who were standing in the middle of the track talking, to get out of the way.

The crew, as soon as the two men were struck, prepared to render first aid, but finding Montavon killed turned attention to the injured man. They made vain efforts to summon the company's surgeon, Dr. O. R. Micklethwait, and then called Dr. W. W. Smith and Lynn's ambulance.

Part of Crew In Another Accident

Part of the crew were the same who figured in two bad B. & O. accidents of the year. Last March Mrs. Jane Eskel, an aged Earlytown woman and her little four-year-old grand daughter, Mary Evelyn Gregg, sat down on a siding just above the cars to rest, the woman unconscious of her danger contentedly smoking her old clay pipe when a cut of cars was backed into a box car behind which they were and so badly mutilated them that the child died the same day, while the grandmother sustained her wounds about a week later. Engineer John H. Davison, of No. 1729 Robinson avenue, was in charge of the engine, and Yardmaster W. P. Newkirk in charge of the train. Newkirk made heroic efforts to rescue the child.

Hammock, who narrowly escaped death last night, sustained two scalp wounds, one just above the right eye and the other behind the right ear. The latter wound was about six inches long. He was knocked senseless and was in bad shape when picked up and lifted into Lynn's ambulance and removed to his home just around the corner at No. 2130 Gallia street, where Dr. W. W. Smith attended him.

Didn't Recollect What Happened

Asked regarding the accident by Times men who called at his bedside later, Hammock, whose head was now bandaged, speaking with some difficulty, said: "I can't say. My memory was knocked out of me. I don't recollect anything except that I got a lick on the head. I met Mr. Montavon on the crossing and we were talking about a job. I think it was regarding some carpenter work."

Hammock is married, having a wife, four sons and as many daughters and is quite well known in the East End, where he has resided for years.

Survived By Seven Children

Mr. Julius Montavon, Sr., was 49 years old on February 15, 1916. In addition to his faithful wife, Mrs. Lena Montavon, he is survived by the following children: Julius, Jr., Gertrude, Eleanor, Emma, Joseph, Paul and Wilbur. He is also survived by seven brothers and three sisters, John, who travels for the Tracy Shoe Company, Peter, of Hillsboro; Frank of the West Side, William, of Lima, Peru, Henry, of Slocum, Walter, of Gallia street, Ambrose, of Chicago, Mrs. Mary McCauley, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Samuel Gordley, of Gallia street, and Mrs. P. F. Wall, of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Montavon was well known in the city, especially in the West End, he having for years conducted a grocery store at Third and Market streets. He was industrious and a good provider for his family. The deceased was a brother-in-law of Joseph Schaefer, well known Market street grocer. Relatives out of the city were notified of Mr. Montavon's death last night and began arriving today for the funeral services.

The last rites will be conducted from the Holy Redeemer church Saturday morning at 8 o'clock and will be in charge of the Rev. J. E. McGuirk. Interment will be in Greenlawn.

NOTICE

There will be a special meeting of the Catholic Order of Foresters in the basement of Holy Redeemer church at seven o'clock, this evening, to make arrangements for the funeral of Julius Montavon. AUGUST DOLL, adv. Chief Ranger.

100 YEARS OLD

"The kidneys play a most important part in causing premature old age and death—the more injurious the poisons passing through the kidneys the sooner comes decay—so says a distinguished physician, who further advises all people who are past thirty to preserve the vitality of the kidneys and free the blood from poisonous elements, such as uric acid—to drink plenty of pure water—work some every day and take 'Anuric' before meals. This 'Anuric' is put up in tablet form, and can be obtained at almost any drug store. For that backache, rheumatism, 'rasty' joints, swollen feet or hands, due to uric acid in the blood, 'Anuric' quickly dissolves the uric acid, as hot water does sugar. It was discovered by Dr. Theresa of Buffalo, N. Y. Prevent old age by simply sipping a cup of hot water every morning before breakfast, take a little 'Anuric' before meals and live to be a hundred. ## FORECAST

Fair on upper Ohio valley to Portsmouth will become stationary tonight and begin falling by Saturday.

F. B. WINTER,
River Observer.

The second cloudburst up Kencaw valley has caused a good-sized stage in the Ohio river. The gauge here registered 18 ft. and rising Friday morning. Considerable drift was running. Saturday's packet departures: Mildred Runyon down for Colum at 2 p. m.; Greendale up for Pomeroy at 1 p. m.; Greyhound for Huntington at 3 p. m.

Says the Gallipolis Tribune:
"The Bay brothers, Capt. William and Capt. George, were considered two of the most successful packet boat owners on the Ohio river. They got out of the business while the 'getting' was good. There is now only one Bay boat, the Greyhound, left on the river and she is for sale. The Bays have owned a dozen or more packets in their time."

Local Firm
May Be "Low"

The S. Monroe & Son officials believe the firm to be low on the Ohio river state road work for which bids were opened at Columbus Thursday. The company is making steady progress on its new local flood wall work. The fill for the Chillicothe street driveway is well under way. John Winkler and John McElmurray are the two city inspectors on the job. The former looks after the general outside work and Mr. Mc-Elmurray after the forms.

WIDOW REFUSED TRANSPORTATION

A young woman claiming to be Lain Axline, a widow of Columbus, was refused transportation back to that city by the public safety department after an investigation of her story, Thursday.

Mrs. Axline, it seems, had come to Portsmouth Monday night, secured employment at the Selby shoe factory and board and lodging at the Y. W. C. A. building.
On Wednesday evening a brother,
Ray Clark, was supposed to have come down from Columbus to inform her that her baby who she had left at home, was sick. She claimed to have accompanied him to the Biggs House where they both lodged that night. She said the next morning she went to the N. & W. ticket office and purchased two tickets to Columbus

"Decidedly Different" Will Be Motto For Fraternal Parade

"Decidedly different" was the slogan adopted by the representatives of various fraternal organizations Thursday evening at a special meeting called by Paul Esselborn, chairman of the Fraternal parade of the Greater 1916 Korn Carnival. The parade will be just a little larger than the one held last year and the formation about the same, but the costumes and other paraphernalia will be different.

Charles A. Sommer was selected as secretary of the meeting and will act in this capacity until the celebration is consummated. Similar meetings are to be held each Friday evening until the Carnival.

Assurances of hearty support from many lodges were received. The organizations appear to be much more interested in this year's celebration than the one held last year. Several have already decided to enter a float of some original design. Others have selected costumes.

This parade will form at Chillicothe and Ninth streets. The side streets, east and west from Ninth to Sixth are to be allotted to the different fraternal organizations at a later date. Then the line of march will go east on Sixth to Gay or Findlay streets, south on Gay or Findlay streets to Gallia street, west on Gallia street to Chillicothe street, south on Chillicothe street to Second street, west on Second street to the west side of Market street, north on the west side of Market street around the esplanade to Second, east on Second to Court or Washington, and then north on Court or Washington and disband.

At the next regular meeting of the delegates from the organizations, a Grand Marshal is to be selected. The first year of the Carnival this office was filled by Eugene D. Knox, former secretary of the Business Men's Association. The year following, it was taken care of by Capt. Cread Milstead and last year by Capt. James W. Smith.

MARY FULLER IN "THE STRENGTH OF THE WEAK"

Columbia Tonight

The news that Mary Fuller has joined the ranks of Bluebird Photoplayers will be hailed with delight by devotees of the screen, who have found such excellence in all of the Bluebird features that have been shown since this splendid series was first introduced a few weeks ago. That Miss Fuller will appear at the Columbia theatre tonight in "The Strength of the Weak" will be cause for immediate rejoicing among the hundreds of local "picture fans" who have made her their favorite.

Mary Fuller has been popularly acclaimed as "Our Mary" by millions of theatregoers, from coast to coast, who find their best entertainment at the moving picture houses. When Florence Roberts toured the country in "The Strength of the Weak," several years ago, the play was proclaimed as one of the strongest examples of dramatic construction ever presented on the boards. Bluebird Photoplays, Inc., have made a screen version of this great drama, in which Mary Fuller will be presented at the Columbia theatre tonight. Apart from its intense interest, the great moral lesson afforded by "The Strength of the Weak" will prove that problem-plays will always have a mission to fulfill and that they are necessary as a warning signal to young womanhood.

Ann Pennington in "Susie Snowflake" At The Lyric Tonight

Ann Pennington, the celebrated little Broadway star, makes her motion picture debut in the Famous Players production, "Susie Snowflake," which is the Paramount attraction at the Lyric tonight. Known all over the country as a dancer and comedienne, Miss Pennington has been wisely starred in a photoplay which is a story of musical comedy life, thus giving her the greatest opportunity to display her far-famed talent on the screen.

Miss Pennington's diminutive stature, her tremendous black eyes, her indescribably appealing personality and her genuine histrionic ability—which among musical comedy stage stars—will unquestionably assure her an equal success on the screen. There is something irresistibly appealing about "Susie," and Miss Pennington has caught the charm of this little dancer, who scandalizes her maidenly aunts and sets a whole town agog when she brings her Broadway ideals into the community. But there is a lot of real character and unswerving loyalty in "Susie," as she proves when she is put to the test.

At The Exhibit

"The Gentle Conspiracy," is a two-part American drama with Vivian Rich playing a double role. It treats of the secret departure from home of a young girl whose mother is blind. She is killed in an automobile accident on the same night on which her cousin, the daughter of a thief and unknown to her family, enters her home to rob it. She is held by the father of the dead girl and made to impersonate his own daughter.

"Twenty Minutes in Magic" is a Beauty comedy featuring Orval Humphrey. Out of a position, a man goes to apply at the headquarters of a magician. What happened when he gained possession of a certain magical box is very amusing. An excellent farce comedy number.

As an extra added attraction there will be the great monkey feature comedy with Sally and Napoleon the Great playing side-splitting and amusing tricks.

At The Arcana

"It Happened in Honolulu" is a Red Feather five part feature drama written and produced by Lynn Reynolds, featuring Myrtle Gonzalez, Val Paul, C. Norman Hammond, Fred Church and others. This is straight comedy, with a touch of drama at times. It is brightly pictured, extremely original and contains much amusing action. The plot concerns a young man, falsely accused of absconding with his father's money. He follows the girl of his heart to Manila and Yokohama and finally weds her in Honolulu. The settings are attractive throughout.

At The Temple

"Hell's Hinges" is a five part

Kay-Bee Triangle drama featuring William S. Hart, the Western Bad Man of the moving picture world. Brilliant in subtle, strong in treatment, with occasional notes of true pathos, the marks of creative ability and sure craftsmanship the great production could not be a failure. An entire village is burned in carrying out the detail of the story which is intensely interesting. The play is one that will appeal to all classes and it has run in the larger cities to packed audiences for weeks at a time. Others in the east are Clara Williams, Louise Glaum and Jack Standing.

At The Strand

"The False Part" is a two-part Gold Seal drama featuring Herbert Rawlinson. The story deals with moving picture life.

"Wanted—A Husband" is a Nestor comedy featuring Neal Burns. The young wife pretends a young lawyer is her husband, during the absence of the real one. This leads to amusing complications.

"His Picture" is a pleasing Imp comedy subject featuring Violet Mescreau and Wm. Garwood as a young married couple.

If you have never read Jansen's ad do so tonight. It will pay you.

ALL STARS COP TWO.

The championship series between the "All Stars," winners of the Peerless League pennant, and a picked team from the Peerless league, came to a close on Thursday with the All Stars winning a double header. Backus, the All Star twirler, proved himself some iron man by pitching both games, holding his opponents to three scratch hits in the first game and seven scattered hits in the second. Edwards pitched good ball for the losers in the first game but six costly errors allowed most of the All Stars scores. Parker also twirled good ball for the Peerless Stars in the second game.

If Too Fat Get

More Fresh Air

Be Moderate in Your Diet and Reduce Your Weight With Oil of Kerein. Lack of fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, a serious case of obesity may result.

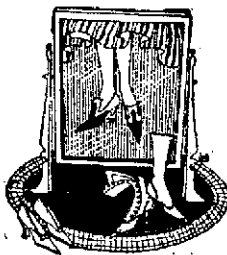

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from The Fisher & Streich Pharmacy, or any druggist a box of oil of kerein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of kerein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 60.

in Thursday's or Friday's Times? What kind of a dress would be suitable to wear at an afternoon home wedding? Also how to clean or wash a blanket, bath or lounging robe.

ANXIOUS.
Any kind of a thin summer dress would be appropriate to wear to an afternoon wedding. Wash the bath robe in lukewarm water, using a white soap. Press the water out and hang on line to dry.

LONESOME.
Why not send your friends and acquaintances a letter or post-card and let them know where you are, and how you are getting along in the South. I'm sure they would be only too glad to correspond with you if they knew your address.

My Dear Miss Wise—Will you please answer the following question

Select a way to make your dress

TIMES SERVICE PATTERN

A NEAT BLOUSE DRESS FOR MOTHER'S GIRL.
1784. Serge, pepp, drill, linen or poplin could be used for the skirt, and crepe, batiste or lawn for the blouse. The entire dress may be of one material. The skirt is buttoned to the blouse at the belt. The sleeve may be in wrist or elbow length. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 44-inch material for a 10-year size. Plaid gingham, in brown and blue tones, would be nice for this skirt, with white linen for the blouse and collar and cuffs of the plaid. Khaki cloth is also good for the skirt, and tub silk or voile for the blouse.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

COUPON

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 10 cents. Make number, name, address, etc. plain. Send to Pattern Department, Portsmouth Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

LOOK YOUNG
DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Change Your Gray Hair To A Perfect Dark Shade—No Dye.

If your hair is prematurely gray, or just streaked with gray, if your hair is thinning and falling out, a few applications of Sulpho-Bage Hair Compound to your hair each day for a couple of weeks will turn your gray hair quickly to an even dark, beautiful shade, full of life-lustre, thick, soft and showing. Sulpho-Bage also cleans out the dandruff and stops falling hair and keeps it healthy.

Absolutely harmless to use—is not a dye and is a big bottle at 50c. A trial bottle sent by mail prepaid. Be sure to ask for Sulpho-Bage. Money back if not satisfactory.

RED NOSE.

Perhaps the best local treatment for a shiny nose would be sponging it with lemon juice, slightly diluted, and rinsed off with cold water. Frequent washing is naturally desirable, but it is best to avoid very hot water.

Mr. Ronald Dick has returned to his home in Washington O. H., after a pleasant visit with his grandmother, Mrs. Cornelia Baker, of Second street. since it is inclined to stimulate the sebaceous glands and increase the secretion of oil. I think you would find a small box of powder, which comes in cake form, very satisfactory. It can easily be carried in a pocket or the palm of the hand without being noticeable. If you apply the powder whenever you feel it is necessary, your nose will look as good as anyone else's. Don't be sensitive about it. You are one of many who are troubled that way.

Dear Dolly—Would you please tell us which one is right? One says a brunette has got to have black hair, dark eyes and a dark complexion. The other says a brunette should have black hair, blue eyes and a light complexion. Which is right?

A true brunette has dark hair, eyes and complexion. However, all persons with dark hair are usually classed as brunettes.

WOMAN WEAK,
DIZZY, NERVOUS

Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Jamaica, N. Y.—"I suffered greatly with my head and with backache, was weak, dizzy, nervous, with hot flashes and felt very miserable, as I was irregular for two years. One day when I was feeling unusually bad my sister-in-law came in and said, 'I wish you would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.' So I began taking it and I am now in good health and am cured. I took the Compound three times a day after meals, and on retiring at night. I always keep a bottle in the house."—Mrs. L. N. BURNHAM, 26 Globe Ave., Jamaica, N.Y.

Women who recover their health naturally tell others what helped them. Some write and allow their names and photographs to be published with testimonials. Many more tell their friends.

If you need a medicine for Women's Ailments, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) for anything you need to know about these troubles.

Mrs. Frank Beggs, of Grant street, expects her mother, Mrs. Perkins Pratt, to arrive home this evening after an extended visit with her son, Dr. Thornton Pratt and family, of Chicago.

Glasses Help Headache

Many are the causes which bring on eyestrain and the consequent headaches. Eye headaches are those which no medicines seem to reach; those all headaches which make life miserable, bring wrinkles to the brow and a dull look to the eyes. Nature never intended the eyes to be over-worked, but if they have ever been over-worked and taxed beyond their normal strength, then science may show the remedy—glasses. Come here and have your eye glasses scientifically made as there is much satisfaction in good glasses.

Our Special Toric Lenses always give you comfort.

Used to work on the farm? Like to tell of the real day's work you put in digging a ditch and swinging a scythe?

Well, you are wanted to prove it, called to volunteer for the "Good Roads Day" they are going to have out on the Scioto Trail next Thursday. All the land-owners along the trail, from Lucasville north to the county line are going to turn out that day and try to give Scioto county something it has never had before, a real good road "from end to end." You know the road is brick, concrete and macadam from Portsmouth to Lucasville. The county has just been patching up the macadam, and that is now smooth and firm. But the section from Lucasville north is pretty bad as a whole and bad as it can well be in parts. It is proposed to put it in shape by a common effort, and that is why you are wanted to volunteer. Every little will help as you can do so much your aid will be invaluable. So come along. Telephone Secretary Ralph Thomas, in the Masonic building, that you will be there, ready and willing to show 'em.

But it isn't going to be all work, though, there ought to be fun in such work. It is proposed that there be some frolic, a picnic dinner in the fine fair grounds grove. Travel in your automobile, bring your dinner pail along with you, as you did in the happy days when you went to toil far afield. At noon let everybody that can and the fellows from town show the country boys how to eat as well as how to work.

The recruiting is coming fast. Four hundred strong-minded, strong-armed citizens, pervaded with a spirit of public pride and progressiveness, are wanted to make the trip. The boys along the trail and several miles adjacent are preparing to meet the Portsmouth delegation at Lucasville, several hundred strong. Equipment of all sorts are being gathered in a systematic manner by the special committee appointed several days ago.

So if you are willing to assist in a movement that may give the good roads in Scioto county considerable impetus, enlist; get a pick, shovel or scythe and a basket filled with dinner and go to Lucasville, on Scioto Trail Day, Thursday, August 24. The enlistment certificate now contains:

EATS LIKE A PIG SLEEPS LIKE LAMB

Youngstown Woman Laughingly Tells of the Astonishing Relief She Gained

"I can eat like a pig and sleep like a lamb," laughingly said Mrs. R. Henderson, of 116 South Hazel street, Youngstown, Ohio.

"I know this sounds rather 'pig-gish,'" Mrs. Henderson explained, "but I can hit upon no words that describe my present condition better. Especially is this true after the many years of suffering I went through.

"Indigestion, catarrh of the head, nose and throat, kidney and liver trouble and nervousness all had a tight grip on me. Words cannot describe the pains and agony I underwent.

"There was a bloating of gas on my stomach after eating. I suffered headaches, my nose was stopped up, mucus formed in my throat, my eyes were weak at times and my kidneys were sore. A general run-down condition of health is what I really suffered from. Never did I feel energetic and it was impossible for me to relish food.

"I tried almost every medicine that came along, but none of them did me any good. I finally concluded that there was no hope for my recovery. I read of Tanlac, friends told me about it, and relatives begged me to take it at first, but I kept on refusing. Each day my condition grew worse and I was driven by desperation, I suppose, to take another chance on finding relief in a proprietary medicine.

"Ten days of Tanlac treatment made a new woman of me. No longer do I suffer from any of the old ailments. Oh, what a pleasure it is to feel good once more. I can't help from praising Tanlac day and night. If any of my friends or people who hear of my case suffer anything like I did, I urge them to take Tanlac."

Tanlac is being introduced in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich's.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns: New Boston, E. H. Coburn; Sciotoville, Sciotoville Pharmacy; Bloomington, N. J. Gleim; Scioto, Stockman & Payne; McDermott, Ord Thompson; Lucasville, Dr. J. H. Cox; Stockdale, O. E. Emory & Co.; Jasper, J. W. Devery; Pike-ton, R. B. Willson; Oak Hill, Jenkins Pharmacy; Otway, J. ## Bridge Work Moving Along Very Speedily

Splendid progress is being made on the C. & O. Northern bridge being erected over the Ohio river at Sciotoville. Over 9,000 tons of steel have been unloaded.

The bottom sections of false work bents 8 A and 8 B have been completed, firmed and cribbed on each end. Seven panels of the floor system have been completed on the false work built in the river from the Ohio bank. The seven panels carry the floor to bents 6 A and 6 B. A floor panel consists of four stringers, one floor beam the width of the bridge and one lateral.

Several of the deck spans have been erected from pier to pier on the Ohio side. The floor girders on the false work bents are only temporarily constructed and will be replaced as more of the bridge steel is put in place. The last thing to be done on the construction of the bridge will be the erection of the girders between the Ohio bank piers.

ASLEEP ON THE JOB

Arising in council—you'll notice the orators always arises, never stands up at Wednesday evening's session, Councilman Wilson, "speaking slowly, deliberately, weighing every word he said," unfolded the profound mystery that a sewer had not only been built on private ground, but that it had been built without the consent of council, which is the authorizing power of such improvements and without the knowledge of the safety director. Darker and more atrocious still, when the said orator, Councilman Wilson heard of that sewer and its location, he hastened him to the safety director's office only to learn that the sewer had been completed a week, and assumably, still "unbeknownst" to the vigilant safety director. Can you beat that? We agree with Councilman Wilson that you can't, but still their lies, or rather it doesn't lie, the sewer. It is on private property, for does not Councilman Wilson offer his irrefragable testimony to the fact that he, while out motoring a car of friends, ran, smack, bang, into the fence, which blockaded the street under which ran the sewer. No doubting that, to be sure. Here's a profound mystery that the public demands shall be brought to the light of day. Think of the awful thing of a person building a sewer on private property without asking the knowledge of the safety director. The question is, fellow-citizens, who built that sewer on private property and in such speed as to violate all conception of public undertaking? More than that! Who has paid for that sewer, or who has already paid for it? That's more momentous than the mystery of the building, more vital than the ignorance of the safety director as to its existence.

MUSINGS OF AN EDITOR

In this week's issue of the Jackson Standard-Journal there is an unusually interesting little article by Editor Williams, who always writes entertainingly and instructively. Under the heading of "Sunday Musings By A Spring" he says, in part:

"July 30.—Spreading two or three papers on the ground in the shade of two oaks and a tulip tree, I sat down to read what Thoreau has said about Sunday.

"But I soon had more diverting interests, for the air was alive with mosquitoes, flies and gnats, while ants, bugs and beetles were all about me on the ground.

"But I had gone to the woods to gossip, and nothing vexed me, for the welcome given was not a whit different from that of the town.

"The ants sought food, the beetles smelled my bit of ham, the grasshopper only ate a hole in my paper, the gnats wanted to drink at my eyes, and the mosquitoes asked for just a sip of blood.

"Each was frank and free in his quest, each was simply looking out for himself, like all those who think that the world owes them a living.

"I was only a snap to them, just as I was in the minds of the fakers at the fair.

"While I was watching the ants, a fly fell dead from the tree overhead, by my side on the paper, and in a minute, a big ant pounced upon it.

"It struggled with its burden for several feet, through the jungle of weeds, grass and dead leaves, until I thought of Sturm, and opened at July 30.

"And his topic was 'Means of subsistence, which Nature provides for animals.'

"Sturm was quaint, but safe and sane, and his argument that Providence maintains a balance between provisions and consumers is plausible, if you accept a Providence at all.

"Did my fly die of heart disease or apoplexy, there was the ant, hungry, beneath, ready to give his body room in his harder before corruption set in.

"Nature never wastes anything, notwithstanding her prodigality.

"What a lot of ants there are in the world. You find them under the grass, in the woods, on the rocks, in the barns and houses, in the cabin and the palace.

"They are never pests unless you lead them into temptation. Ants are Nature's sanitary police.

"They pry into every nook and cranny, and carry away every bit of organic matter left over by others.

"Out of the sun and the seasons, down into Nature's refrigerator, they take every abandoned organism which would otherwise become foul.

"Ants never leave their dead horses, nor even poisoned rats to offend Nature and pollute the air.

"Just then a breeze brought the tonic fragrance of the Rose Pinks on the hill, to remind me that ants had kept the air fair for me."

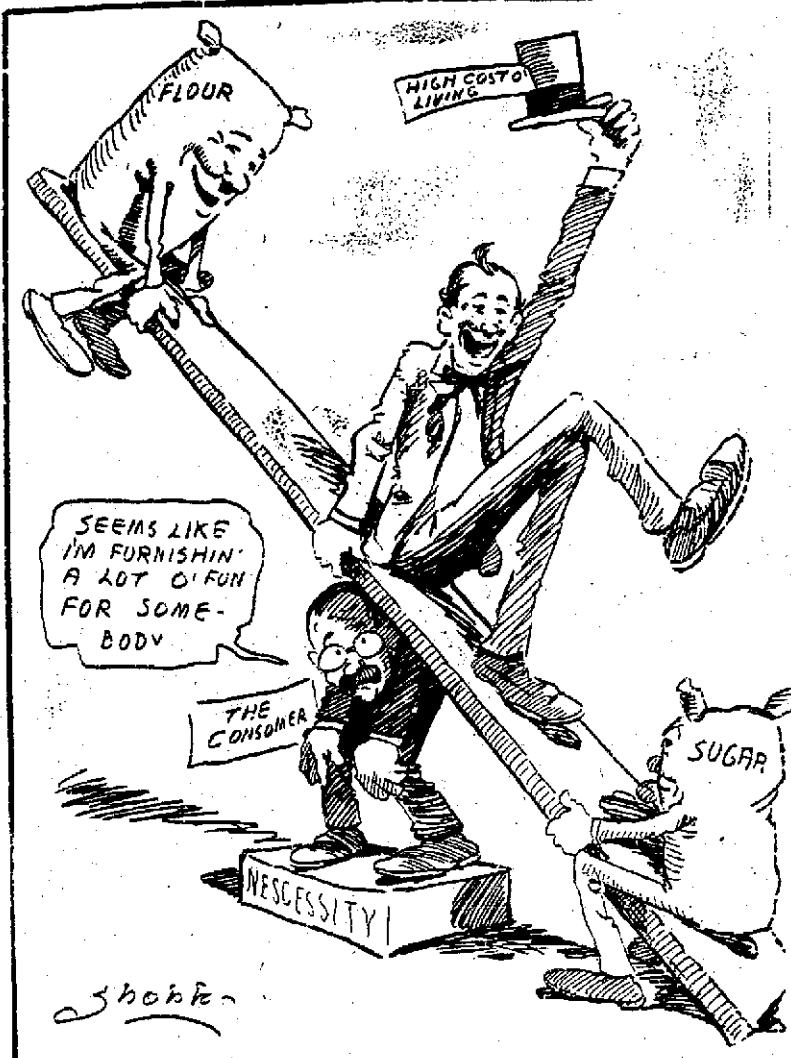

It is well, let's say ludicrous, to see these G. O. P. organs, undying champions of protection for the American workingman, rise as one and chorus tumultuous approval of Senator Martine's amendment, which would put print paper on the free list. The shoe never pinches until it is put on your own foot.

A plague on these free trade times. Plate mills find themselves unable to fill contracts for delivery during 1916, and the demand for billboards is so strong and the supply so scant that one concern has been shopping around for some time for 37,000 tons and finds no one to take its order.

Contract has been let for the lighting of Scioto bridge. That is an improvement to be desired.

We've discovered the secret of rain making and it is simple enough. All that is necessary is for the diligent janitor to cut the grass in the green plots about the post office.

TEETER-TOTTER

Confound the war anyway! No sooner had we lulled to easy by a report from Berlin that the drive on the Somme had spent its force, and the things had come to a pause in the east, than here came a contrary report from the frisky French saying they had captured 897 meters of trenches and Petrograd claims the rushing Russians have advanced 13 versts. So again we had to sit down and figure just how many yards were in a meter and how many miles in a verst, as, upon our living soul, we can't remember from hour to hour.

Times change. Fifteen years ago, when it was announced that old Burgess mills, which had been bought for somewhere around a $100,000, were to be re-lighted, the Peerless pretty near had a fit. Now the purchasers announce the addition of a million dollar furnace and it is the event of a day. It is but that we have got used to big things when we come to consider the steel plant.

The Republican minority in the senate wants a covenant that the corrupt election bill will not be passed at this session, before it will consent that other business shall proceed in a free and orderly manner. Why?

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY
 O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Aug. 18.—Down where Fourteenth street meets Broadway, there is an old man, gnarled and gray. Little piercing eyes look out upon the passersby from behind gray shaggy eyebrows.

He has a little leather case of printed horsepoesies in envelopes in which are printed threats, hopes and good cheer. In a cage he has a pair of white and wheezy mice, a moth eaten monkey and an old parrot.

Customers who pay him a dime may have their fortune told by mice, monkey or parrot. They will come out of the cage, grab an envelope and it is passed on to the customers.

Most of the customers are dull looking and they approach the old man with apprehension. I passed him the other day and one woman had just been handed her envelope.

"Thank God," she said, "that He has provided such ways for us to know the future."

A well known writer who likes to mingle in Bohemia where introductions are not necessary, was in a Washington Square table de hote place the other night. He met two men friends and soon there were several young artist's models who joined the party.

The young writer began to talk. He said: "Materialism is our greatest menace. The frenzied desire for money, the offering of what is best in us to its quest, is an influence so potent that it is gradually sweeping aside any idealistic leanings, which we may possess."

A young girl with her hair bobbed, shifted her gum, gazed adoringly at the writer and finally exclaimed: "Gee, mister, but you use the loveliest words."

The sea going hack sometimes called a low necked hack has come back into its own as the result of the car strike. Even office boys are lolling in the comfortable vehicles.

There are about 500 of these open carriages that patrol Broadway and Fifth avenue for customers and they average about $3 or $4 a day but since a lot of the cars stopped running the jebbs have been making from $15 to $20 a day.

Low necked hacks have been used generally by young couples who like to go a-spooning in Central park and for slightly inebriated gentlemen who want plenty of room and the open air when they travel home in the wee morning hours.

 An Intruder

As soon as the Willy Wood-rats had finished their handsome new nest, Willy was for running down to the creek to have a good time.

"Now, Willy, what a way for you to do!" exclaimed Mrs. Willy disgustedly. "Don't you like this home? Don't you think it is the handsomest home you ever had?"

"Oh, yes, of course, I think every bit of that!" laughed Willy good-naturedly. "And I'm ever so glad to live here. But I am going to run down to the creek a while and see if there are any other wood-rats around. Not a bit of news have I heard since we began this building."

"Very well," said Mrs. Willy, "run along. And Willy, do notice if you see any soft down anywhere. I want to line this back room a little better."

Willy called over his left shoulder that he would and then he scurried down toward the creek. To tell the truth, Mrs. Willy didn't so much mind being alone. She knew that Willy loved to play pranks—he would rather do that than anything he knew of—and she liked to have him have fun. For her part she would rather stay at home and finish up some little odds and ends about the new house than go down to a dozen creeks!

She tidied up the floor of the main room of the new house, she brushed up every scrap and bit with her long slim tail, and then she looked around for some down.

But there was none to be had. "I guess I'll not wait for Willy to come back," said she thoughtfully. "Like as not he'll forget it anyway. I'll just slip out and find something for myself. So out of the house she ran and down toward the wood."

Now just after Mrs. Willy ran away for the down, who should come along down the path that Willy and his little mate had worn in the grass but one of the tiny little gaters!

Think of that!

Mrs. Willy would have been frightened to death had she been there to see!

This little gater thumped, thumped, in his thumpy little gater fashion and went right up to the door of the new house.

"Hump, hump," said he curiously. "Somebody lives here!"

Luckily the Willy Wood-rats had made the door so small that only a very slim, timber wood-rat could get inside. Wood-rats can lie flat and slide right through cracks like mice can, you know. So the tiny little gater didn't get in after all. He just turned around and thumped, thumped away. Wouldn't Mrs. Willy have been glad if she had known?

I'm Sorry, I Was Wrong

There may be virtue in the man Who's always sure he's right, Who'll never hear another's plan And seeks no further light; But I like more the chap who sings A somewhat different song; Who says, when he has messed up things, "I'm sorry, I was wrong."

It's hard for anyone to say That failure's due to him— That he has lost the fight or way Because his lights burned dim. It takes a man aside to throw The vanity that's strong, Confessing "I was all my fault; I know, I'm sorry, I was wrong."

And so I figure those who use This honest manly phrase, Hate it too much their way to lose On many future days. They'll keep the path and make the fight, Because they do not long To have to say—when they're not right—"I'm sorry, I was wrong."

TRAINMEN VOTE ON PROPOSAL

INDICATIONS POINT TO ACCEPTANCE OF WILSON'S PLAN

Washington, D. C., August 18.—While the 640 representatives of the railway employees assembled in secret session this morning to vote on acceptance of President Wilson's plan for averting a nation-wide strike the railroad presidents and their manager held a final conference before going to the White House.

The time for President Wilson with the railroad presidents had been set for 11:30 this morning, but the railroad men found it impossible to be prepared with their statement at that hour and the time was changed to 2 o'clock this afternoon.

There were indications that the employees would vote to accept President Wilson's proposal of a basic eight hour day and settlement of side issues by a special commission but the hope for settlement was endangered by evidences that the railroad presidents, backing up their managers' committee were not inclined to grant an eight hour day, unless it be decided by arbitration and in any event might ask President Wilson for a little time in which to think over his proposition. President Wilson abandoned today's cabinet meeting so he could devote all his time to the crucial railway situation.

The railroad presidents want arbitration under the Newlands act with two arbitrators for roads, two for the men and two for the public. The disposition of many of them was said today to be to insist upon action of that character and not yield to President Wilson's plans for an eight-hour day unless it comes from an arbitration board.

Some of the presidents are said to feel that the public will support their effort to arbitrate everything in dispute. Some others, however, were of the opinion that if President Wilson chooses to exercise his power and refuses to press the men for arbitration it will be difficult for the railroad presidents to continue opposition to his plan.

After the employees' meeting had been in session for an hour, one of the leaders came out and said sentiment for the president's proposal was by no means unanimous, but no organized opposition to the plan had appeared.

Most of them thought the proposition good in the main, but a number found objections to it.

"There are about 500 men in there clamoring for a chance to speak," said the leader, who came out, "and if they are heard, as many of them doubtless will be, there is no telling when we will get a vote."

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Presidents of railroad companies who were here today on summons of President Wilson to hear his proposal for settling the threatened nation-wide strike, apparently were not inclined to favor any method except arbitration. Indications were that the employees, however, would inform the president that they approved his plan.

President Wilson was considering going over the heads even of the railway presidents, it was intimated, if they should refuse the concessions he suggested, and appeal direct to the financiers who control the railroads.

The president's proposal was that the railroads establish the eight-hour day principle and grant pay at usual rates for overtime, instead of the pay and a half demanded by the men. All other issues then might be referred to a commission of probably three members, one of whom would be named by the president or some other public representative and the other two by the employees and employers respectively.

Score Hurt When Bleachers Collapse

Warren, Ohio, Aug. 18.—A score of persons were slightly injured yesterday when a section of the temporary bleachers erected in front of the grand stand at the Trumbull county fair grounds collapsed while a big crowd was watching a boxing match. The most seriously injured are: Mrs. Don Burrows, Mrs. Earl Chadwick, Miss Flora Salen, Mrs. Rankin Redmond, Mrs. John Rarick of Warren; John Qualey, of Niles; Mrs. Frank McFetridge, of Champion, Ohio.

Two persons are reported missing. A thousand people occupying the bleacher seats were tossed into a heap amid the tangle of broken timbers and the crowd of 25,000 which was attending the county fair was panic stricken when the crash came. Police prevented a stampede.

HUGHES' BUSIEST DAY IN THE WEST

San Francisco, Calif., August 18.—Charles E. Hughes entered California from the North early today with a program speech-making entertainment and conference ahead of him that promised one of the most strenuous periods of his western trip. A reception committee of thirty, headed by W. F. Crocker, Republican National committeeman, and Francis V. Keessling, chairman of the Republican state Central Committee, waited near the Oregon line to welcome the presidential nominee and escort him to San Francisco where he will remain for two days.

Today's program included an afternoon reception at the Union League Club, a talk to San Francisco women an hour later at his hotel, and an address at the Civic Auditorium tonight and later a reception at the newspaper men's club.

Interest centered in the big public meeting tonight, over which Mr. Crocker was selected to preside. Arrangements for the meeting developed a conflict between Republican and Progressive leaders that has caused considerable controversy and bitterness.

Mr. Hughes is to try to mend the breach between the two factions. The Progressives, denied the privilege of taking part in planning the meeting, are to be represented tonight by a number of vice presidents on the platform. Their chief, Governor Hiram W. Johnson, will not be present, his campaign for United States Senator as both a Progressive and a Republican candidate having taken him to another part of the state.

Before reaching San Francisco Mr. Hughes made train talks at a number of towns.

trains from the north, south and west making their first stop in the state at Pittsburgh, were met by representatives of the state department of health and all children without certificates were forced to turn back. Inspectors were also stationed at various points in Pennsylvania near the West Virginia and Ohio boundaries where railroads and interurban lines enter the state to enforce the quarantine.

RED CROSS ON THE JOB IN MUD SOAKED TRENCHES ON WESTERN FRONT

ATTENDING WOUNDED IN BRITISH TRENCH. (UNITED PRESS SERVICE.)

Here is an interesting picture depicting the bravery of the Red Cross workers on the western front. It shows wounded men in a British trench being treated under fire. In this case it was impossible to carry the wounded man to the hospital and treatment is being given him on the spot where he was wounded. At the right is a "Tommy" with his injured foot neatly bandaged.

STEERING GEAR BREAKS, AUTO STRIKES A TREE, ONE KILLED; 9 INJURED

Canton, O., Aug. 18.—One woman was killed, another probably fatally injured, and eight other persons were injured when the steering gear of an automobile broke and the machine dashed into a tree in the roadway four miles north of here last night.

Mrs. Mary Harris, of Glen Easton, W. Va., was killed instantly, her neck being broken. Miss Essie Hill of Cuyahoga Falls, received a broken jaw and was internally hurt.

The others injured are: Isaac Hill, Cuyahoga Falls, right hand broken, arm and right side badly crushed and bruised. Willis Hill, Akron large gash in head and internal injuries. Chalmer Hill, Cuyahoga Falls, driver and owner, body injuries.

PORTUGAL TO THROW TROOPS INTO BATTLE ON SIDE OF ALLIES

Lisbon, Via Paris, Aug. 18.—Major Norton Matos, the Portuguese minister of war, announced today that Portugal soon will participate in the war, fighting on the side of the entente allies.

FRENCH AND GERMANS CONTINUE BATTLE FOR POSSESSION OF FLEURY

Paris, Aug. 18.—Heavy attacks were made by the French last night on the Verdun front. After violent fighting at Fleury, east of the Meuse, they expelled the Germans from part of the town which had been captured, says the official statement of today.

CHICAGO VISITED BY CHILD PLAGUE

Chicago, August 18.—Eighty cases of infantile paralysis have been received at the Cook county and Durand hospitals in Chicago since July 1, it was announced today. An average of three patients a day is being received at the Cook hospital and emergency preparations are being made to receive a greater number. The health authorities do not consider the malady epidemic.

BOND ISSUE TO MEET EXPENDITURES IS RECOMMENDED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Action which is approved by the treasury department was laid before the senate last night in its report on the $205,000,000 revenue bill. It was accompanied by a treasury department statement which placed disbursements for the year 1917 at $1,126,243,000 and receipts at $762,000,000.

Enjoyed Fair. Edmund Schmidt, Earl Reeg and James Erwin were among the hundreds of local people who took in the Lucasville fair Thursday.

London, Aug. 18.—Six determined German counter attacks on the British trenches northwest of Pozieres were repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers, according to the official statement issued by the war office last night. Northwest of Bazentin the British captured about one hundred yards of German trenches.

The text of the statement follows: "On our right there was considerable artillery activity all day; last night and early this morning the enemy delivered a series of determined counter attacks on our trenches northwest of Pozieres on a broad front with considerable forces."

"Six times his infantry advanced to the attack, but ran back suffering very heavy losses. Our guns and machine guns did great execution. In no case did he succeed in entering our lines."

"Northwest of Bazentin we captured about one hundred yards of trenches. A counter attack made by the enemy today from Marignyville was repulsed and some prisoners were captured by us. A German aeroplane was brought down behind our lines near Pozieres."

BELGIAN TROOPS CAPTURE A PORT

Havre, France, August 18.—A brigade of Belgian troops have captured and occupied the port of Karama on the eastern bank of Lake Tanganyika, German East Africa, says an official Belgian announcement. Karama is about 125 miles south of Ujiji.

CONTROL THE PRICE OF FISH

San Francisco, Cal., August 18.—The price of fish in San Francisco will be fixed, beginning next Tuesday, by a board on which wholesaler, retailer, fisherman and consumer will be represented. Announcement that the board was ready to go to work was made today by Harry Weinstein, state market director, who suggested the plan and worked the details. The consumer will be represented by a member of the state fish and game commission.

ASLEEP ON THE JOB

Arising in council—you'll notice the orators always arises, never stands up at Wednesday evening's session, Councilman Wilson, "speaking slowly, deliberately, weighing every word he said," unfolded the profound mystery that a sewer had not only been built on private ground, but that it had been built without the consent of council, which is the authorizing power of such improvements and without the knowledge of the safety director. Darker and more atrocious still, when the said orator, Councilman Wilson heard of that sewer and its location, he hastened him to the safety director's office only to learn that the sewer had been completed a week, and assumably, still "unknown" to the vigilant safety director. Can you beat that? We agree with Councilman Wilson that you can't, but still their lies, or rather it doesn't lie, the sewer, it is on private property, for does not Councilman Wilson offer his irrefragable testimony to the fact that he, while out motoring a car of friends, ran, smacked, bang, into the fence, which blockaded the street under which ran the sewer. No doubting that, to be sure. Here's a profound mystery that the public demands shall be brought to the light of day. Think of the awful thing of a person building a sewer on private property without asking the city if it be agreeable, worse still think of building it without the knowledge of the safety director. The question is, fellow-citizens, who built that sewer on private property and in such speed as to violate all conception of public undertaking? More than that: 'Who has paid for that sewer, or who has already paid for it? That's more momentous than the mystery of the building, more vital than the ignorance of the safety director as to its existence.

MUSINGS OF AN EDITOR

In this week's issue of the Jackson Standard, Journal there is an unusually interesting little article by Editor Williams, who always writes entertainingly and instructively. Under the heading of "Sunday Musings By A Spring" he says, in part:

"July 30.—Spreading two or three papers on the ground in the shade of two oaks and a tulip tree, I sat down to read what Thoreau has said about Sunday.

"But I soon had more diverting interests, for the air was alive with mosquitoes, flies and gnats, while ants, bugs and beetles were all about me on the ground.

"But I had gone to the woods to gossip, and nothing vexed me, for the welcome given was not a whit different from that of the town.

"The ants sought food, the beetles smelled my bit of ham, the grasshopper only ate a hole in my paper, the gnats wanted to drink at my eyes, and the mosquitoes asked for just a sip of blood.

"Each was frank and free in his quest, each was simply looking out for himself, like all those who think that the world owes them a living.

"I was only a snap to them, just as I was in the minds of the fakers at the fair.

"While I was watching the ants, a fly fell dead from the tree overhead, by my side on the paper, and in a minute, a big ant pounced upon it.

"It struggled with its burden for several feet, through the jungle of weeds, grass and dead leaves, until I thought of Sturm, and opened at July 30.

"And his topic was 'Means of subsistence, which Nature provides for animals.'

"Sturm was quaint, but safe and sane, and his argument that Providence maintains a balance between provisions and consumers is plausible, if you accept a Providence at all.

"Did my fly die of heart disease or apoplexy, there was the ant, hungry, beneath, ready to give his body room in his larder before corruption set in.

"Nature never wastes anything, notwithstanding her prodigality.

"What a lot of ants there are in the world.

"You find them under the grass, in the woods, on the rocks, in the barns and houses, in the cabin and the palace.

"They are never pests unless you lead them into temptation.

"Ants are Nature's sanitary police.

"They pry into every nook and cranny, and carry away every bit of organic matter left over by others.

"Out of the sun and the seasons, down into Nature's refrigerator, they take every abandoned organism which would otherwise become foul.

"Ants never leave their dead horses, nor even poisoned rats to offend Nature and pollute the air.

"Just then a breeze brought the tonic fragrance of the Rose Pinks on the hill, to remind me that ants had kept the air fair for me."

It is well, let's say ludicrous, to see these G. O. P. organs, undying champions of protection for the American workingman, rise as one and chorus tumultuous approval of Senator Martine's amendment, which would put print paper on the free list. The shoe never pinches until it is put on your own foot.

A plague on these free trade times. Plate mills find themselves unable to fill contracts for delivery during 1916, and the demand for billets is so strong and the supply so scant that one concern has been shopping around for some time for 37,000 tons and finds no one to take its order.

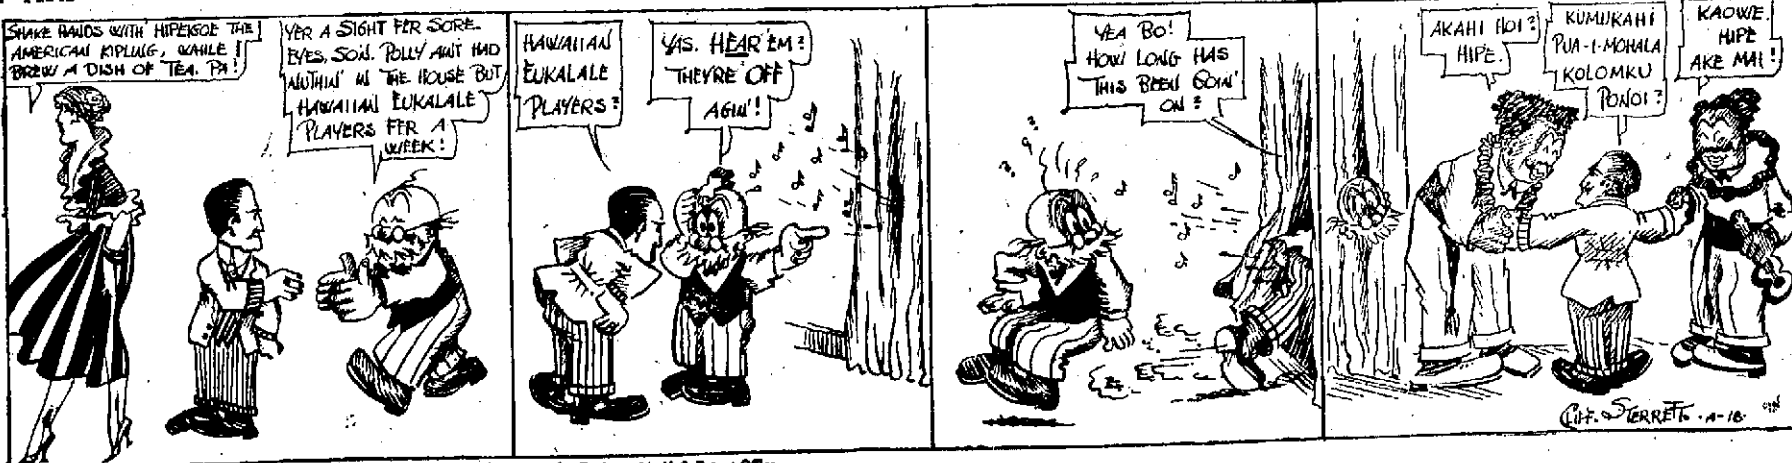

Contract has been let for the lighting of Scioto bridge. That is an improvement to be desired.

We've discovered the secret of rain making and it is simple enough. All that is necessary is for the diligent janitor to cut the grass in the green plots about the post office.

HIS FAT WIFE

A thin little fellow had such a fat wife,
 Fat wife, fat wife, God bless her!
 She looked like a drum and he looked like a pipe,
 And it took all his money to dress her,
 God bless her!
 To dress her!
 God bless her!
 To dress her!

She grew like a target, he grew like a sword,
 A sword, a sword, God spare her!
 She took all the bed and she took all the board,
 And it took a whole sofa to bear her,
 God spare her!
 To bear her!
 God spare her!
 To bear her!

She spread like a turtle, he shrank like a pike,
 A pike, a pike, God save him!
 And nobody ever beheld the like,
 For they had to wear glasses to shave him,
 God save him!
 To shave him!
 God save him!
 To shave him!

She fattened away till she burst one day,
 Exploded, blew up, God take her!
 And all the people that saw it say
 She covered over an acre!
 God take her!
 An acre!
 God take her!
 An acre!

The Republican minority in the senate wants a covenant that the corrupt election bill will not be passed at this session, before it will consent that other business shall proceed in a free and orderly manner. Why?

Confound the war anyway! No sooner had we lulled to easy by a report from Berlin that the drive on the Somme had spent its force, and the things had come to a pause in the east, than here come a contrary report from the frisky French saying they had captured 897 meters of trenches and Petrograd claims the rushing Russians have advanced 13 versts. So again we had to sit down and figure just how many yards were in a meter and how many miles in a verst, as, upon our living soul, we can't remember from hour to hour.

Times change. Fifteen years ago, when it was announced that old Burgess mills, which had been bought for somewhere around a $100,000, were to be re-lighted, the Peerless pretty near had a fit. Now the purchasers announce the addition of a million dollar furnace and it is the event of a day. It is but that we have got used to big things when we come to consider the steel plant.

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Aug. 18.—Down where Fourteenth street meets Broadway, there is an old man, gnarled and gray. Little piercing eyes look out upon the passersby from behind gray shaggy eyebrows.

He has a little leather case of printed horoscopes in envelopes in which are printed threats, hopes and good cheer. In a cage he has a pair of white and wheezy mice, a moth eaten monkey and an old parrot.

Customers who pay him a dime may have their fortune told by mice, monkey or parrot. They will come out of the cage, grab an envelope and it is passed on to the customers.

Most of the customers are dull looking and they approach the little old man with apprehension. I passed him the other day and one woman had just been handed her envelope.

"Thank God," she said, "that He has provided such ways for us to know the future."

A prominent member of the Union League Club has been convalescing from an attack of appendicitis in a St. Nicholas Avenue hospital. Edward Henry Clift, the commission merchant, called on him the other day.

He was enthusiastic about his quick recovery. He talked in glowing terms but several others who were in nearby beds and were also convalescing were not so optimistic.

EYES AND HUSBANDS

Everyone is always interested and curious when some one explains how the eyes, hair, chin and general external physical characteristics are indicative of the nature and temperament of the man within, even if they have little belief in such methods of fortune telling.

The Bertillon experts of the Ohio state penitentiary have just come out with a new method of character reading which he urges upon all young women contemplating matrimony. Watch their eyes, girls, he says. Superfluous advice as it may seem, the prison expert declares it is infallible. In a story from Columbus a few days ago he is quoted as advising all girls to avoid men with black or light gray eyes.

The majority of murderers have those kind.

Avoid the man with the light brown eyes—penitentiary experience shows he's liable to be a safe cracker, according to the Bertillon expert.

And keep away from the dreamy blue or brown eyes. Their owners are forgers or counterfeiters.

Wife deserters usually have blue eyes.

The most dangerous prisoners usually have light blue or small black eyes.

But—eliminating the pink-eyed ones as impossible—what can a poor woman do?—Akron Beacon Journal.

We rather get the impression from careful and conscientious perusal of Mr. Hughes' speeches that he had been sitting over there in Washington on the supreme bench taking notes of everything that President Wilson did and has put a black mark over each and every one.

An Intruder

AS SOON AS THE Willy Wood-rats had finished their handsome new nest, Willy was for running down to the creek to have a good time.

"Now, Willy, what a way for you to do!" exclaimed Mrs. Willy disgustedly. "Don't you like this home? Don't you think it is the handsomest home you ever had?"

"Oh, yes, of course, I think every bit of that!" laughed Willy good-naturedly. "and I'm ever so glad to live here. But I am going to run down to the creek a while and see if there are any other wood-rats around. Not a bit of news have I heard since we began this building."

"Very well," said Mrs. Willy, "run along. And Willy, do notice if you see any sort of mouse anywhere. I want to live in this back room a little better."

Willy called over his left shoulder that he would and then he scurried down toward the creek.

To tell the truth, Mrs. Willy didn't so much mind being alone. She knew that Willy loved to play pranks—he would rather do that than anything he knew of—and she liked to have him have fun. For her part she would rather stay at home and finish up some little odds and ends about the new house than go down to a dozen creeks!

She tidied up the floor of the main room of the new house; she brushed up every scrap and bit with her long slim tail, and then she looked around for some down.

But there was none to be had. "I guess I'll not wait for Willy to come back," said she thoughtfully. "Like as not he'll forget it anyway. I'll just slip out and find something for myself." So out of the house she ran and down toward the wood.

Now just after Mrs. Willy ran away for the down, who should come along down the path that Willy and his little mate had worn in the grass but one of the tiny little gators! Think of that!

"Hump, hump," said he curiously, "somebody lives here!"

went right up to the door of the new house.

"Hump, hump," said he curiously, "somebody lives here! Let's see who." And he tried to walk right into the door of the house.

Luckily the Willy Wood-rats had made the door so small that only a very slim, limber wood-rat could get inside. Wood-rats can lie flat and slide right through cracks like mice can, you know. So the tiny little gator didn't get in after all. He just turned around and thumped, thumped away. Wouldn't Mrs. Willy have been glad if she had known?

And another said: "Why my uncle had a roll of tape and a big wad of cotton sewed up in him. Mr. Clift's friend began to look worried."

At this juncture a breezy young interne scampered into the ward and began looking around. "I've lost my raincoat," he said, "has anyone seen it?"

And Mr. Clift's friend fainted.

A well known writer who likes to mingle in Bohemia where introductions are not necessary, was in a Washington Square table de hote place the other night. He met two men friends and soon there were several young artist's models who joined the party.

The young writer began to talk. He said: "Materialism is our greatest menace. The frenzied desire for money, the offering of what is best in us to its quest, is an influence so potent that it is gradually sweeping aside any idealistic leanings, which we may possess."

A young girl with her hair bobbed, shifted her gun, gazed admiringly at the writer and finally exclaimed: "Gee, mister, but you use the loveliest words."

Low necked hacks have been used generally by young couples who like to go a-spooning in Central park and for slightly inebriated gentlemen who want plenty of room and the open air when they travel home in the wee morning hours.

Julius Montavon Is Crushed To Death; His Companion Is Injured By B. & O. Engine

While standing directly in the middle of the B. & O. S. W. tracks as they parallel the N. & W. on the Broadway crossing in the East End at 5:30 Thursday evening, Julius Montavon, 49, of Jackson street, and Wesley Hammock, 53, of 2130 Gallia street, were run down by a B. & O. S. W. switch engine. When struck Mr. Montavon's body was thrown in the path of the engine and the front wheels practically cut his body in twain, his death resulting almost instantaneously. His body was wedged between the wheels of the engine when it was brought to a stop about 35 yards east of the crossing.

Hammock, a contracting carpenter, was more fortunate, as the engine tossed his body south of the tracks and he escaped meeting the tragic fate that was meted out to Montavon almost without warning. Hammock was found in a clump of weeds unconscious and bleeding profusely from a six-inch wound over his right eye, and a deep cut back of his right ear, but he soon revived and was removed to his home.

Failed To Hear Engine of Death

Death interrupted a conversation he and Montavon were having about a piece of work Hammock is doing. So engrossed were they in their conversation that they failed to hear the B. & O. S. W. switch engine until too late to get out of its path. Samuel Gordley, a brother-in-law of Montavon, was sitting on the front porch of his home near the Broadway crossing and was the first person to reach the two men after the accident occurred. Montavon had just left his home and started across the crossing when he met Hammock. Mr. Gordley saw the engine approaching and when the two men did not continue their way across the tracks he started to make an investigation with the result that he found Montavon's body beneath the wheels of the engine and Hammock's just south of the tracks. A clump of high weeds he says prevented him from seeing the engine hit the two men.

Coroner Will Investigate

Coroner J. W. Daehler was notified shortly after the fatal accident and he hurried to the scene as quickly as possible. After viewing the lifeless and mutilated body of Montavon, which was later removed to Lynn's undertaking establishment to be prepared for burial, Coroner Daehler stated that persons going over railroad crossings had certain rights and he would investigate the affair thoroughly.

Montavon, who was employed as book-keeper in the Tenth street plant of the Irving Drew Shoe Company, was on his way home when death intercepted him. According to a statement made last night by Hammock at his home on Gallia street, they had been conversing probably three or four minutes when the engine struck them.

"It was about 5:40 last night when Montavon, who was on his way home, came to my house," Samuel Gordley stated last night. "We tried to get him to stay for supper, but he seemed worried over an operation his daughter Emma underwent Thursday for the removal of adenoids and tonsils, and he said he was anxious to get home. I walked to the porch of my home and kept talking to Montavon until he almost reached the Broadway crossing. The next time I saw my brother-in-law he was lying beneath the wheels of the B. & O. S. W. switch engine."

The official report of the accident made by Conductor J. N. Maynard, of South Portsmouth, who was in charge of the train crew, given 5:50 o'clock as the time of the accident.

The report states that the switch engine, No. 1591 in charge of Engineer Grant Moore, of Fifth street, Fireman H. S. Penrod, of Chillicothe, Brakemen Stewart Davison, of Sixth and Market streets, and W. Fred Schwartz, of Tenth street, and Conductor Maynard had just shoved a cut of empty freight cars down into the Harbison-Walker Company's brick plant's loading track to be loaded, and was backing out as a light engine over Broadway crossing.

The report adds that W. E. Duly claims to have heard the fireman on the engine call to the two men who were standing in the middle of the track talking, to get out of the way.

The crew, as soon as the two men were struck, prepared to render first aid, but finding Montavon killed turned attention to the injured man. They made vain efforts to summon the company's surgeon, Dr. O. R. Mickelthwait, and then called Dr. W. W. Smith and Lynn's ambulance.

Part of the crew were the same who figured in the two bad B. & O. accidents of the year. Last March Mrs. Jane Eskel, an aged Earlston woman and her little four-year-old grand daughter, Mary Evelyn Gregg, sat down on a sliding just above the cars to rest, the woman unconscious of her danger contentedly smoking her old clay pipe when a cut of cars was backed into a box car behind which they were and so badly mutilated them that the child died the same day, while the grandmother succumbed to her wounds about a week later. Engineer John L. Davison, of No. 1729 Robinson avenue, was in charge of the engine, and Yardmaster W. P. Newkirk in charge of the train. Newkirk made heroic efforts to rescue the child.

Hammock, who narrowly escaped death last night, sustained two scalp wounds, one just above the right eye and the other behind the right ear. The latter wound was about six inches long. He was knocked senseless and was in bad shape when picked up, and lifted into Lynn's ambulance, and removed to his home just around the corner at No. 2130 Gallia street, where Dr. W. W. Smith attended him.

Didn't Recollect What Happened

Asked regarding the accident by Times men who called at his bedside later, Hammock, whose head was now bandaged, speaking with some difficulty, said: "I can't say. My memory was knocked out of me. I don't recollect anything except that I got a blow on the head. I met Mr. Montavon on the crossing, and we were talking about a job. I think it was regarding some carpenter work."

Hammock is married, having a wife, four sons and as many daughters and is quite well known in the East End, where he has resided for years.

RECRUITING IS BEGUN FOR "GOOD ROADS DAY"

Used to work on the farm.

Like to tell of the real day's work you put in digging a ditch and swinging a scythe?

Well, you are wanted to prove it, called to volunteer for the "Good Roads Day" they are going to have out on the Scioto Trail next Thursday.

All the land-owners along the trail, from Lucasville north to the county line are going to turn out that day and try to give Scioto county something it has never had before, a real good road, "from end to end." You know the road is brick, concrete and macadam from Portsmouth to Lucasville. The county has just been patching up the macadam, and that is now "smooth and firm. But the section from Lucasville north is pretty bad as a whole and bad as it can well be in parts. It is proposed to put it in shape by a common effort, and that is why you are wanted to volunteer. Every little will help as you can do so much your aid will be invaluable. So come along. Telephone Secretary Ralph Thomas, in the Masonic building, that you will be there, ready and willing to show 'em.

But it isn't going to be all work, though, there ought to be fun in such work. It is proposed that there be some frolic, a picnic dinner in the fine fair grounds grove. Travel in your automobile, bring your dinner pail along with you, as you did in the happy days when you went to toil far afield. At noon let everybody shut out and the fellows from town show the country boys how to eat as well as how to work.

The recruiting is coming fast. Four hundred strong-minded, strong-armed citizens, pervaded with a spirit of public pride and progressiveness, are wanted to make the trip. The boys along the trail and several miles adjacent are preparing to meet the Portsmouth delegation at Lucasville, several hundred strong. Equipment of all sorts are being gathered.

tavon on the crossing, and we were talking about a job. I think it was regarding some carpenter work."

Hammock is married, having a wife, four sons and as many daughters and is quite well known in the East End, where he has resided for years.

Survived By Seven Children

Mr. Julius Montavon, Sr., was 49 years old on February 15, 1916. In addition to his faithful wife, Mrs. Lena Montavon, he is survived by the following children: Julius, Jr., Gertrude, Eleanor, Emma, Joseph, Paul and Wilbur. He is also survived by seven brothers and three sisters, John, who travels for the Tracy Shoe Company, Peter, of Hillsboro; Frank, of the West Side, William, of Lima, Peru, Henry, of Slocum, Walter, of Gallia street, Ambrose, of Chicago, Mrs. Mary McCauley, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Samuel Gordley, of Gallia street, and Mrs. P. F. Wall, of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Montavon was well known in the city, especially in the West End, he having for years conducted a grocery store at Third and Market streets. He was industrious and a good provider for his family. The deceased was a brother-in-law of Joseph Schaefer, well known Market street grocer. Relatives out of the city were notified of Mr. Montavon's death last night and began arriving today for the funeral services.

in a systematic manner by the special committee appointed several days ago.

So if you are willing to assist in a movement that may give the good roads in Scioto county considerable impetus, enlist; get a pick, shovel or scythe and a basket filled with dinner and go to Lucasville, on Scioto Trail Day," Thursday, August 24.

The enlistment certificate now contains:

Valley Harold, John C. Bauer.

Thomas W. Watkins, Charles E. Worley, George H. Hill, Frank V. Knauss, E. E. Thomas, Samuel Horthow, Who Is Next? Jos. T. Mickelthwait.

Decidedly different will be motto for fraternal parade

"Decidedly different" was the working slogan adopted by the representatives of various fraternal organizations Thursday evening at a special meeting called by Paul Esselborn, chairman of the fraternal parade of the Greater 1916 Korn Karnival. The parade will be just a little larger than the one held last year and the formation about the same, but the costumes and other paraphernalia will be different.

Charles A. Sommer was selected as secretary of the meeting and will act in this capacity until the celebration is consummated. Similar meetings are to be held each Friday evening until the Karnival.

Assurances of hearty support from many lodges were received. The organizations appear to be much more interested in this year's celebration than the one held last year. Several have already decided to enter a float of some original design. Others have selected costumes.

The parade will form at Chillicothe and Ninth streets. The side streets, east and west from Ninth to Sixth are to be allotted to the different fraternal organizations at a later date. Then the line of march will go east on Sixth to Gay or Findlay streets, south on Gay or Findlay streets to Gallia street, west on Gallia street to Chillicothe street, south on Chillicothe street to Second street, west on Second street to the west side of Market street, north on the west side of Market street around the esplanade to Second, east on Second to Court or Washington, and then north on Court or Washington and disband.

At the next regular meeting of the delegates from the organizations, a Grand Marshal is to be selected. The first year of the Karnival this office was filled by Eugene D. Knox, former secretary of the Business Men's Association. The year following, it was taken care of by Capt. Creed Milstead and last year by Capt. James W. Smith.

Fine Musical Program Will Be Feature Of Bigelow's Re-opening

Prospects for a capacity congregation at the formal opening of the Bigelow Methodist church, Sunday morning, are very good, according to members of the Sunday school classes. Efforts are now being made to have each member of the different classes present Sunday. Members are also asked to bring their friends.

After being practically closed for several weeks, while undergoing a thorough renovating, the Bigelow Methodist church has been made ready for the fall and winter services. Many new conveniences have been added, the woodwork repainted, new chandeliers and new organ. The exterior has been repainted. New pews and new carpets have been ordered. They have not arrived yet.

Rev. C. E. Chandler, pastor, who has been spending several weeks in Michigan, is expected home Friday evening. He will have a special sermon Sunday.

At the morning services Sunday there will be special songs by the chorists and Mrs. Fred B. Winter will sing a solo.

At the evening services there will also be special songs by the chorists, a solo by Miss Ethel Lakeman and a duet by Mr. Watson Goddard and Miss Bertha Staiger.

Will Buy Goods

Vernon Davidson will leave Saturday for New York, where he will buy shoes and furnishings for the Anderson Bros. Company. He will take a boat from Norfolk and has planned to spend ten days in New York city.

Orders A Ford

Believing that if he owned a machine he would be able to get over more territory and thereby increase his earning capacity as an attorney, City Solicitor Anselm Skelton has placed an order with the Universal Motor company for a Ford runabout of the new type.

HAMMER AND PAINT

The Edward Brehmer and Frank Bickett homes, 734 and 736 Ninth street, are being repainted by Contracting Painter Brehmer.

Don't let another sun set with your WANT untold. Use the TIMES which reaches over 9,000 homes every day.

Meet Me At Nye's Fountain, 121

At The Temple

Hell's Hinges" is a five part Kay-Bee Triangle drama featuring William S. Hart, the Western Bad Man of the moving picture world. Brilliant in subtitle, strong in treatment, with occasional notes of true pathos, the marks of creative ability and sure craftsmanship the great production could not be a failure. An entire village is burned in carrying out the detail of the story which is intensely interesting. The play is one that will appeal to all classes and it has run in the larger cities to packed audiences for weeks at a time. Others in the cast are Clara Williams, Louise Glamm and Jack Standing.

Will Get A Good Feed

Jacob Findeis has received a contract to feed the advance men of the 101 Ranch Show, which will pitch its tents in Portsmouth on Thursday, September 20.

Eagles Choose Buffalo For Next Convention

Savannah, Ga., August 18.—With practically all of the business of the convention completed and many delegates already enroute for their homes, the grand series of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, holding the eighteenth annual meeting here, today continued its work. Final adjournment is set for tomorrow. Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday was chosen as the 1917 meeting place.

Speakers Not There

The crowd at the thirty-seventh annual G. A. R. picnic held in Shuter's Grove, near Harrisonville, Thursday last day, was disappointed in not hearing the speakers that had been announced on the program. The committee had invited Harry Ransom, Theodore K. Funk, N. B. Gilliland, and A. T. Holcomb and J. T. Mickelthwait to deliver addresses, but the local men were at the Lucasville Fair, or found business so pressing they could not get to the picnic. C. L. Reamer, C. & O. inspector of Columbus, was on the grounds and he gave a very interesting talk on the present European war at the noon hour, the time scheduled for other speakers.

Ambassador Page Visits Home After Three Years

New York, Aug. 18.—Ambassador and Mrs. W. H. Page, who arrived from England on the American liner Philadelphia, are visiting their children at Garden City, L. I., today. After a few days there the Ambassador will go to Washington. He has been abroad three years. He is to return to his post in late October. Asked about the war situation he said: "You might as well ask me about the millennium as to give an opinion on the length of the war. You get more news in the New York papers than we get in London."

Will Buy Goods

Vernon Davidson will leave Saturday for New York, where he will buy shoes and furnishings for the Anderson Bros. Company. He will take a boat from Norfolk and has planned to spend ten days in New York city.
